

Make Your Own Wind Rose

To complete this wind rose, you should keep a record of the wind direction for your area for a week. You can measure this through use of a wind vane. However, if you don't have a wind vane, just note the wind direction for your area from your phone, weather apps or from your local airport website.

To complete the graph, colour in one square each day to show where the wind is coming from. Make sure you start from the middle.

Note down the number of days without wind in the centre of your rose.
